Desiciency of daily mean temperature

since Jan. 1, 305 degrees.

Precipitation since the first of the month, .51 inch, which is .82 inch below

Deficiency in precipitation since Jan. 1, 1.24 inch.

FORECASTS TILL 6 P. M. SUNDAY. Local forecast for Salt Lake City and vicinity: Fair tonight and Sunday. For Utah: (Forecast made at Denver. Colo.). Fair tonight and Sunday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS. The high area is still central over the middle plateau region, remaining practically stationary during the past 48 hours. It has, however, become much more intense in energy, and as a result much colder weather prevails throughout the inter-mountain region. Low pressure overlies Manitoba.

Snow was reported from Rapid City and Chicago; and rain from Galveston and New Orleans, the recorded amount from the last named station being 1.78 tracker. Extreme cold prevails over the upper Missouri and Mississippi valleys and lake region, where temperatures considerably below the zero point are the rule. Exceptionally cold weather also vails over eastern Kansas, Missouri and Iowa.

Fair weather is indicated for this vicinity tonight and Sunday.

The hotels spread themselves last evening on Christmas dinners, and de a fine display of delicious edibles. The Knutsford and the Kenyon had unusually handsome, hand painted menu cards, and Landlord Sam Porter of the enyon had a special orchestra on hand to please his guests, with fine cigars to pass around with Mr. Porter's compli-

An autopsy over the remains of Fred erick J. Maack, the unfortunate print-er who committed suicide at Heber a few days ago, was performed in this city this afternoon. The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow from the residence of his brother George 718 east Seventh South street, the services being under the auspices of the Typographical union, of which deceased was

A Mountain Home woman dropped a large parcel in the mail chutes at the postoffice on Thursday. It was tied up with thread and paper so fragile that the whole business went to pieces the moment it struck the bottom of the chute, and half a dozen boxes of toys went flying over the floor. It required as much time to pick them up and do the package again as it would have done to distribute 25 packages.

The coal strike agitators are carting supplies of the necessaries of life to the strikers at Sunnyside and Price, as the closing of the Glaser store at Sunnyside under an attachment compels them to do, and the trains will not bring in goods for the use of the strikers. The latter profess their intention to remain in the country until the flowers bloom in the spring, when they hope the farm-er coal miner will go back to tilling the soil.

Mrs. A. C. Pyper of this city is the possessor of an interesting old relic which was exhibited yesterday at the "News" office. It is the New Year's address to the patrons of the Council Bluff's Bugle, a paper printed near the old "winter quarters" of the "Mormon" emigrants on Jan. 1, 1855. It consists of a long poem printed on silk, quite an ambitious undertaking for those days. Mrs. Pyper at that time was working for the Bugle, and she naturally pre-serves the old souvenir with a great deal of care.

While driving home Thursday night Ephraim Pettit, a well known resident of this city, was the victim of a runaway accident in which he was quite badly bruised and had a close call for his life. Mr. Pettit lives in North Salt Lake and was returning home by way of North Temple when his team took fright at a point near First West street and ran into a telephone pole, throwing the old gentleman out under the horses. The result was that he was badly trampled upon and so injured that he will be confined to his home for some time to come. Shortly after the that he will be confined to his home for some time to come. Shortly after the runaway President Joseph F. Smith happened along and had the injured man removed to the home of J. W. Feck nearby, where his wounds were examined and D. Wright summoned to attend him. Later he was taken to the Kearh-Wright hearts! attend him. Later he was taken the Keogh-Wright hospital, where last reports he was doing nicely.

The Salvation Army made things interesting for the children of the poor last evening, in the state armory. The trees were well laden with all the theutrees were well laden with all the theusand and one things that delight the childish heart, and Santa Claus was there to distribute them, having slid down the chimney for that purpose.
There were dolls and doll houses and doll carriages for the girls and sleds and drums and ice wagons and trains of cars for the boys, and candies and nuts and cakes for all. Santa Claus gave away over 1,000 pairs of stockings and 400 union suits of underwear, and a lot of clean clothing partly worn. After the ceremonies in the hall were over every child was given a check for five cents on Santa Claus' bank, and as they passed down the stairs they found Santa Claus behind an improvised bank ta Claus behind an improvised bank counter, where he received the checks, and gave in their stead five bright new pennies for each and every one

ALL PRAISE THE NEWS.

Great Chorus of Kindly Words From The State Press.

Truth-The Christmas edition of the Descret News, issued last Saturday, was the handsomest newspaper ever printed in this city. The typographical work was splendid, the illustrations magnificent, while the reading matter was of a select character and ably put together. The Christmas News reflects credit upon the State of Utah, and we hope that its circulation in the east will be double the number its management anticipates, because too many such ers cannot be Truth congratulates its neighbor on the showing made, and tenders its felicitations to every one who had a part in the production of so magnificent an issue, from the galley boy to the editor-in-chief. The other fellows will have to hustle some if they come anywhere near to the standard set by the "News."

Manti Messenger-The Christmas Manti Messenger—The Christmas News is a credit to Utah journalism. The "News" has for years given special Christmas numbers, but the one this year is superior to any edition of the past. We congratulate the "News" on the beauty in typographical excellence and the amount of important matter so ably put together. It is a credit to all concerned. to all concerned.

Springville Independent-The Christmas News issued last Sunday was the best ever printed in Utah, in the mechanical, typographical and artistic work, which equaled that of the first class magazines. The literary matter was of the same excellence. Thousands of copies should be taken and sent abroad, to show that Utah is abreast of the times in newspaper work.

Tooele Transcript—The Christmas Deseret News.made its appearance last Saturday with a 92 page edition. It would be only spending time and space to review this edition of the Deseret News as our space is too limited for the task. We sincerely advise all our readers to secure a copy of the Christmas News for their own use, and at mas News for their own use, and at least one more copy to send to some friend either at home or abroad. H. S. Gowans is the local agent for this city and copies can be secured of him price 15 cents, or in magazine form at 25

Logan Journal—The Deseret News Christmas Issue of 92 pages was the finest newspaper ever issued from the state press, in the subject matter, illus-trations and general typographic and artistic excellence.

IDAHO SUGAR BOUNTY.

What the Idaho Falls Times Has to Say on the Subject.

Idaho Falls Times: Naturally enough, the original intent of the sugar bounty is to help the farmer. To help him by encouraging industry within the state, which affords a ready market for a product that can be raised at a profit to him. If sugar beets can be raised at a good profit in this locality, the installing of a plant to consume this product is a blessing to the farmer and country as well. The state has no desire to pour money into the coffers of any corporation, nor would the people stand for such a move, but it is considered that an equivalent of the bounty money will return to the pockets of the farmers, by establishing for him a ready market for a profitable product. That's the only way to look at it and it was with no other intentions that the appropriation was made, whether unconstitutional or not. A few of the farmers have made little or no money off of beets this year. It was more of an experiment. There was machinery to buy, and the farmer was going into something he had had no previous experience in, All who came out wrong, see where they fell down," and a second year's trial will give them a chance to overcome these former obstacles and allow them to puli through with the deserved earnings. Should it be shown that the cultivation of the beets was unprofitable, then the action of a legislature in making such an appropriation could be questioned by every taxpayer within the borders of the state. But the sugar beet industry is a paying one, from the farmer to the refiner. At least, it has been proven so in other sections of the country. The farmer does not care particularly how much or how little the sugar company reaps from its industry, but he is careful to see that he himself is engaging in a profitable business. When the farmer makes a little more money raising beets than in other produce, he will accord with the action of the lawmakers, and by the way, the greater part of them are of that same view at the close of the first year's crop encouraging industry within the state, which affords a ready market for a prod-
